July 19, 2005

Sir:

An error on the part of the USPTO has occurred in the publication of US Patent 6919855. Although 25 sheets of formal figures were transmitted to the USPTO on January 25, 2005 the patent document was published using the 25 informal figure sheets originally filed with the application. Numerous errors therefore appear in the published patent document, including the omission of element notation(s) in figures 5e, 8a and 8b. Further, the thin line traces appearing in the majority of chart figures do not appear with a consistency and orientation that is clearly readable and or reproducible. All of these errors/defects were corrected in Applicant's formal figure submission.

Evidence of the USPTO mistake is documented by PAIR. Applicant's complete formal figures submission and transmittal letter appears in the Public PAIR image file wrapper listing under the date of January 31, 2005. The same PAIR image file wrapper listing also indicates that the issue fee transmittal was not received until February 16, 2005, more than two weeks after reception of the formal figures submission by the USPTO was verified via PAIR by Applicant.

Because the error is pervasive throughout 25 pages of the 30 page patent document, Applicant respectfully requests issue of a complete corrected patent document, rather than a form PTO 1050 certificate of correction.

Because the mistake has occurred through the fault of the USPTO, no fee is due.

Respectfully submitted,
